The Nigeria We Want

TEN CRITICAL OPPORTUNITIES FOR POSITIVE CHANGE

The Emerging Generation

Youths who embrace their role as the solutions to their challenges and architects of their future

Youths who eagerly take up meaningful work even when there is no immediate monetary reward

Youths who respond to the challenges of their nation with creative, productive thinking

Opportunities for Personal Development

A welfare system that caters for the aged, disabled, unemployed, orphans and other less privileged citizens

A Nigeria that supports the dreams of her citizens and that provides a fair space for them to grow and thrive.

Increased investment in sports that supports grassroots cultivation of talents that will be competitive in global sports arenas.

Community-based development centres that are equipped with personal and career development coaches and that are open to all.

Operational Infrastructure & Systems

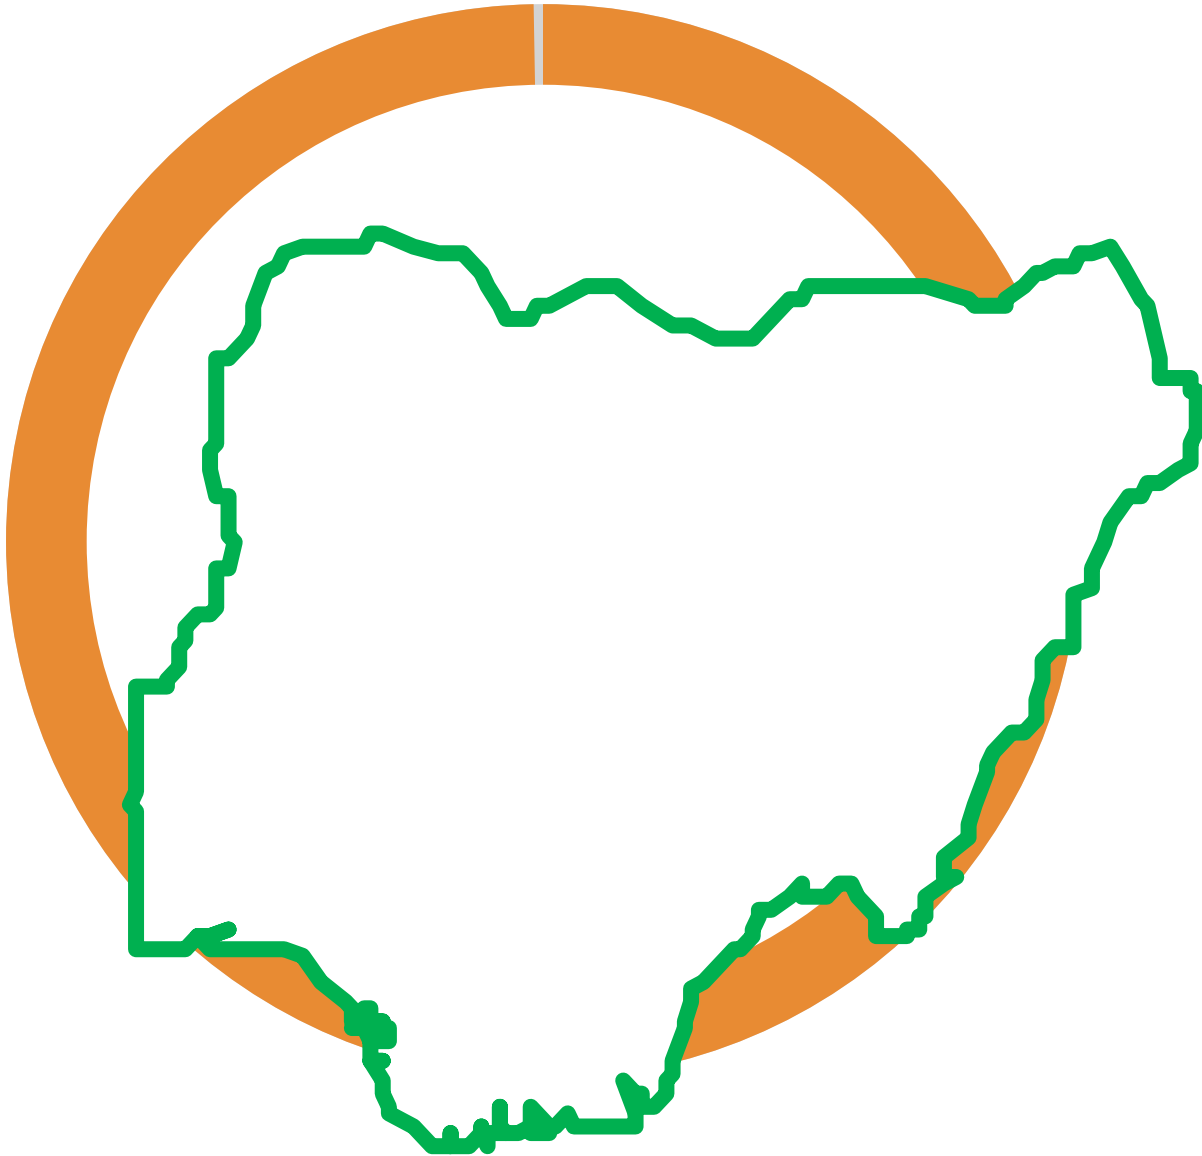

A working power supply system that enables youths express creative capabilities and contribute to growth through enterprise

A healthcare system that will prioritize the welfare of patients and health workers, curb medical tourism and limit the endemic brain drain of medical specialists

Modern, multi-modal, safe, cheap, and effective transportation systems that will accelerate productivity and trade

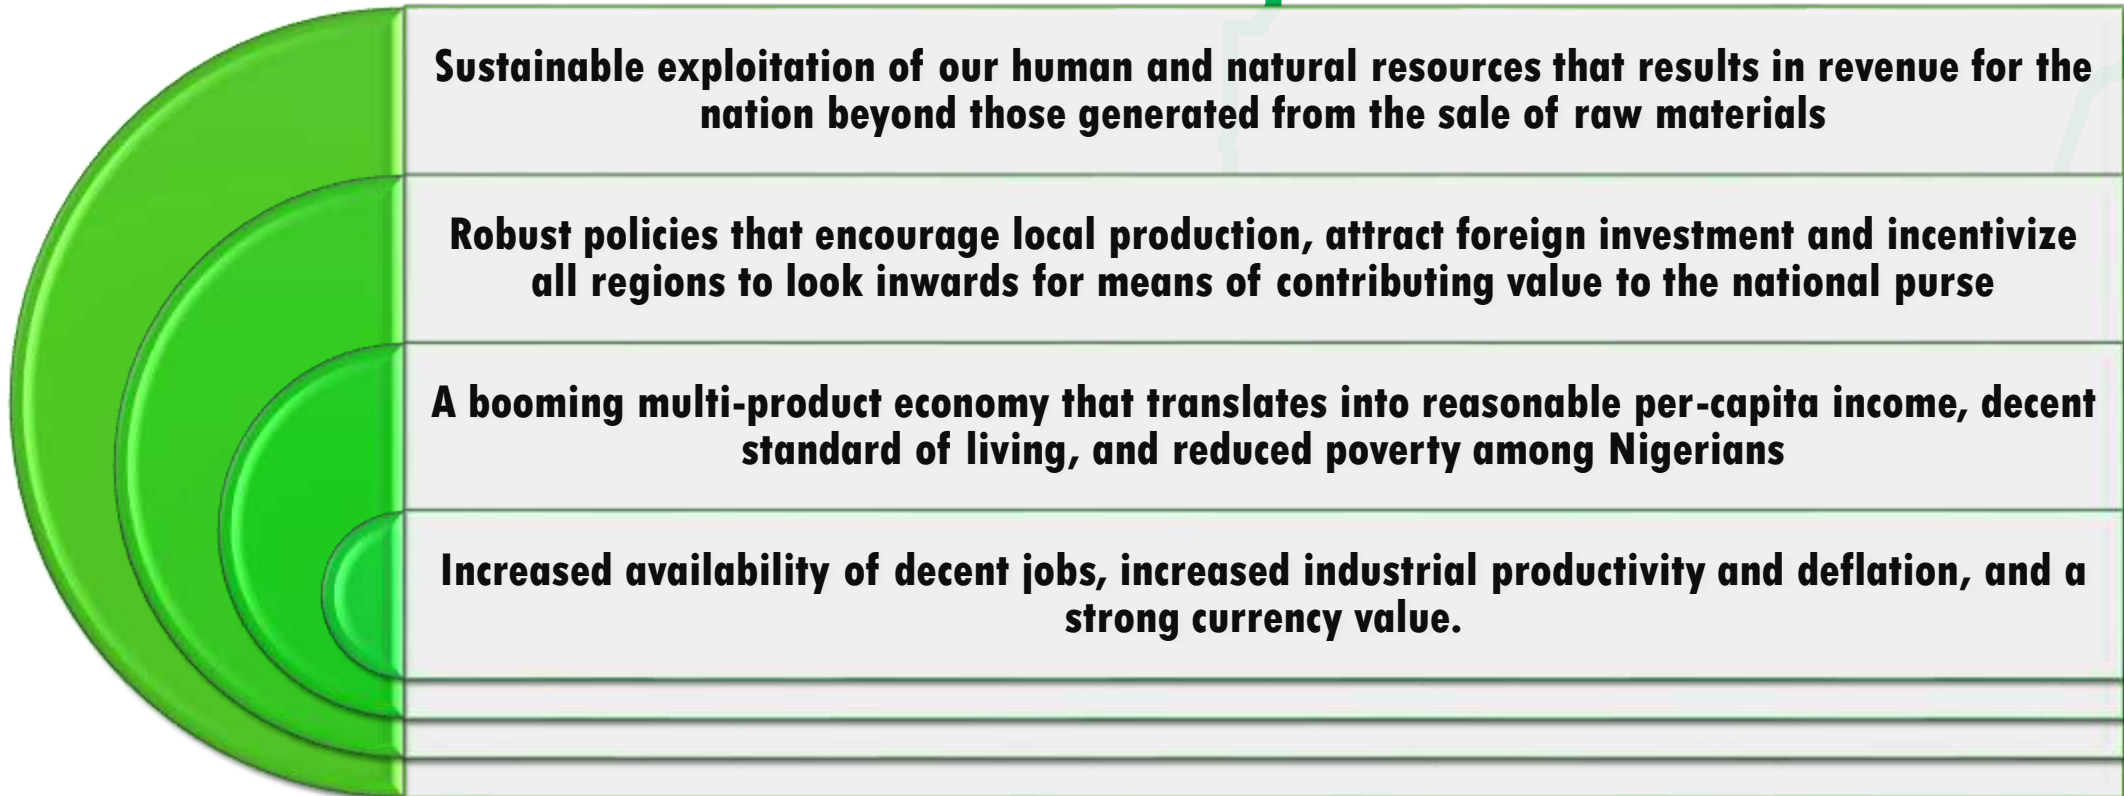

Improved foundational services that can excite prosperity, well-being, convenience, and improvements in the citizens' quality of life

Optimal & Effective Institutions

- Institutions with a prevailing culture that elevates systems above individuals and defines efficient processes designed to benefit citizens irrespective of their background or connections
- Facilities that provide opportunities for youth to contribute positively to national development and add their voice to decisions that define their future
- Educational systems and curricular that gives every citizen sufficient exposure to knowledge to compete in any market in the world
